[No. 5080.]

Vol. XVIII.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended to with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further,
that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases estimated desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obetanate coughs, asthma, sore throats, cat-arrhs, and approaching consumptions.—
To persons who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,
is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back
Loss of appetite Indigestion
Impurity of blood Melancholy
Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs
and debility Relaxations, &c.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals,
the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops
For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1817.

Virginia Legislature.

Richmond, December 2.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF VIRGINIA.
Yesterday both branches of the General Assembly convened in the Capitol.

In the House of Delegates, Mr. Linn Banks, of the county of Madison, was elected to the Chair—the other officers, viz: Clerk, Sergeant at Arms, and four Door-keepers, were re-elected.

The Governor's Message was read, and the rules of the last General Assembly were adopted for the present session. Adjourned to this day, 12 o'clock.

In the Senate, Mr. Watts was re-elected Speaker, and the other officers, viz: their Clerk, Sergeant at Arms, Printer, and Door-keepers, were re-elected.

COUNCIL CHAMBER, Dec. 1, 1817.
Fellow Citizens of the Senate,
and of the House of Delegates,

In discharge of my duty, in conformity to the established custom of all my predecessors in office, I venture to address a few remarks to you upon the commencement of your legislative labors.—The happy constitution under which we live has most wisely provided against the insuperable evils which would have resulted from blending executive, legislative and judicial powers and duties. The executive, at all times scrupulously regarding that constitution or form of government, consecrated in their affections by its being an inheritance, which descended to them from their revolutionary fathers, securing to them their rights and liberties; and witnessing, as they have done, under the wisdom of its institutions the rapid advancement of the state to the high and honorable reputation which it sustains, would be the last to encroach upon its principles. They would, therefore, deem it their duty to avoid every suggestion which would have the appearance of giving a bias to the legislative will. While they thus regard the rights of every department of government, and of every individual in it, they will be prompt to feel and ready to discharge, to the best of their abilities, the high and responsible obligations imposed upon them and their department by the constitution.

Happily for our beloved country, it no longer groans under the horrors of a relentless, vindictive and cruel war. Her councils are undisturbed by the tumults of passion and violence; and that hydra-party spirit, is no longer seen to rear its baneful head among us. The fiscal operations of our government are prosperous; and between every department there prevails a perfect cordiality. The reign of reason and of justice; and of intellectual power, is again acknowledged and restored. The agriculturist is in the full enjoyment of the abundant fruits of his toil; the mechanic is rapidly increasing in wealth by his labor and industry; the merchant reaps the advantage of a widely extended and almost unlimited commerce, and receives the just reward of his enterprise. Every condition of society is in the perfect enjoyment of every immunity that appertains to it. Our national character having been exposed during the late war to the severest trials, and having stood the test, has justly inspired the people with an increased confidence, esteem and affection for their government, and has excited and commands the admiration and respect of foreign nations. How delightful is this state of things to the heart of the philanthropic legislator, contrasted with the dreary scene which our country exhibited to his view during the war from which we have but just emerged. Whilst we are thus individually, and as a nation, permitted to repose in undisturbed tranquility under our own vine and fig tree, and there are none to make us afraid, protected by the wisdom of these institutions, which are bottomed on equal rights, maintaining our religious and civil liberties, insuring the invaluable privilege of self-government, the only legitimate government on earth; are we not bound to bow with humility and reverence to that God who bountifully sustains us in the enjoyment of those inestimable blessings, and to testify our gratitude to him by the practice of every virtue, and of every Christian charity, which distinguishes his peculiar people?

The next subject that naturally suggests itself to the mind of an enlightened legislator as of primary importance, is that which relates to the personal security and the sovereignty of that community which has entrusted them, as representatives, with the management of public concerns. As the militia, which is composed of the great mass of our citizens, constitutes the natural defense of a free state; it is upon them that a reliance must always be placed, for the attainment of those great objects. It is unnecessary to go into tedious details upon the defects of our militia laws, which are obviously known & felt to be expensive, harassing and perfectly delusive as to the objects of subordination and discipline.

Our revolution and the late war seem to have demonstrated to the world the vital importance of this species of military character, and how much it may be relied upon when properly directed. The present legislature will therefore be disposed to give the subject the consideration due to it; nor will they, I hope, permit this period of tranquillity, so favorable to temperate discussion and deliberation, to pass away, without devising and maturing some system which will be better calculated to inspire individual and public confidence, and to insure a perfect protection to the state from every danger that it may hereafter be exposed to, either from invasion, insurrection, or usurpation—or any other unfortunate vicissitude.

Every exertion has been made by the executive, through the adjutant, quartermaster and commissary general of ordnance, the arms and accoutrements, the military stores, camp equipage, etc. belonging to the state so disposed of as to be preserved from damage. I fear, however, from the difficulty and impossibility, under the law, of fixing upon the responsible persons to whom arms have been distributed, in consequence of deaths, resignations and removals, that a very considerable loss to the state must accrue. The completion of the arsenal in Lexington will hereafter partially guard against a continuance of the evil.

From the present strength of the public guard, being as I conceive, inefficient for any military purpose whatever, even for the purpose of properly guarding the public edifices, and public property in this city; I submit to the legislature the propriety of discontinuing the establishment.

The executive, in conformity to the law of the last session, appointed five persons who constituted a board of directors to superintend and manage the affairs of the penitentiary. I regret to say that there was a difficulty in procuring the services of such gentlemen as were selected for the execution of the law. I am led to believe the regard for the institution, and a sense of necessity which the case imposed, alone induced the acceptance of the appointment. Patriotism may sometimes be found to supply every object of public concern—but it is questionable whether it is sufficient stimulus at all times, to command public service.

By a report of the superintendent of the armory, which I shall hereafter have the honor of submitting, the legislature will have it more completely in their power to judge of the operations and present state of that institution.

The board of public works, ardently disposed to cherish that spirit of internal improvement which has been so happily diffused through every section of the state, have occupied the talents of their public engineer upon those objects which they deemed of primary importance to the public interest. His surveys, plans and reports, of all the objects that have engaged his attention, shall in due time be submitted for the inspection and consideration of the legislature.—This policy, which has for its object the promotion of individual wealth and industry, and which cannot fail to elevate the character of the state abroad—which, if perseveringly prosecuted, will enable us to make a proud comparison of our efforts with those of our sister states, cannot but command an important share of your deliberations.

The executive, as soon as it was in their power, proceeded to execute the law, (as far as it depended on them) for arranging the counties into districts, for the election of senators, and for equalizing the land tax. Reports have been received from not more than half the counties in the state, announcing the completion of the assessment. Whenever the whole of the assistant assessors shall have reported the assessment completed, the provisions of the law will be promptly executed.

Under a law of the last session, entitled "An act to repeal in part an act, entitled an 'Act to provide an accurate chart of each county, and general map of the territory of this commonwealth,'" the executive proceeded to define the work which would be required, and had it published in the newspapers of the state, with a view to receive proposals from such as might be disposed to contract with them for its execution. Proposals have been received from a few persons but no contract has yet been entered into in relation to the subject. The surveys heretofore contracted for are progressing.

I had hoped, that it would have been certainly in my power to have informed the legislature that our claims on the general government were finally adjusted (and closed by payment). Although large sums have been received during the summer from the general government, yet I am informed by Mr. Chew, the commissioner for adjusting the claims, that on account of the informality of returns and vouchers, and from the press of business from other states, of a similar nature, upon the office at the city of Washington, considerable sums remained suspended. He further informs me that every exertion is making on his part to bring the accounts speedily to a close, and that he is aided as far as it is in their power, by the clerks and officers concerned.

It is with great mortification that I am compelled to suggest my fears that the mode proposed for the erection of a Monument to the Memory of GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON, by voluntary subscription, will not succeed. The executive appointed two or more persons, the most distinguished and influential in each county in the state, to receive donations, in hopes that their weight of character and exertions would excite those around to pay that tribute which is so justly due to the memory of a man who is the acknowledged savior of his country, and the purest patriot and brightest ornament, that ever adorned human nature.

The lamented death of Griffin Stith, esp. one of the judges of the general court, occasioned a vacancy during the recess of the legislature, which the executive filled by the appointment of Richard E. Parker, "to be approved or disapproved by both houses."

I have to communicate to the legislature the death of Brig. Gen. Francis M. Boykin, which occasions a vacancy in the 8th brigade of Virginia militia. This vacancy will be filled during the present session, by an appointment from the general assembly.

The resignation of Nathaniel H. Claiborne, esq. long a member of the privy council, occasions the necessity of filling that vacancy.

A few days hence I shall have the honor of submitting to the legislature some other matters that have been received by this department, which I deem it my duty to communicate.

Fellow-Citizens of the Senate,
and of the House of Delegates,

Upon a review of our past and present condition, we must acknowledge that no period has ever been afforded so peculiarly auspicious for the promotion and advancement of those great and important objects, that so intimately concern the perpetuation of our government, our present and future happiness, as well as all our dearest interests.

In this rising republic, every man is born with equal claims to the highest offices in the gift of the government. Virtue and talents alone can insure public patronage, and united, may aspire to the most distinguished employments. You have it in your power, by laying a broad foundation for the rearing of genius and the cultivation of the human mind to raise to yourselves an everlasting monument, an imperishable fame. You have the right, and your constituents have afforded you the means, thro' a proper use of the literary fund, of emancipating the human mind from the gloomy bondage of ignorance.

They look to you, and you are accountable to them at least for the performance of this all-important and sacred duty. Remember that we owe our present happy form of government, our liberties, both civil and religious, to the talents and genius and virtue of our predecessors. They have solemnly warned us that these blessings can only be perpetuated through the means by which they were attained. Cease to cultivate the mind and heart, and your liberties are lost forever. Then pardon me for endeavouring so fervently to impress upon you that you owe to the rising generation and to posterity, as legislators, no obligation so solemn and so sacred as that which relates to their education and the attainment of knowledge. In vain shall we transmit them the blessings of a free government, which have cost our forefathers so much blood and treasure to establish and preserve, if we do not inspire them with the capacity of enjoying it, through the means of liberal and patriotic feelings and expanded minds. Give then to ALL, rich and poor, equally, the means of instruction, and your legislative labors will be blessed and perpetuated, and your country rewarded, in the honest liberal, independent and faithful discharge of your duty.

ALEXANDRIA: FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1817.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Dec. 5.

Yesterday the President's Message was read, and referred to a committee of the whole on the state of the nation. And I believe it communicated to every American as lively and as perfect satisfaction as it is possible for a private individual to experience from a more national accomplishment. It is a most glorious document to present to the eyes of a scrutinizing world. Scarcely any ingredient in the composition of national felicity and true glory is wanting to it. To say that it is conversant of by far the most propitious circumstances ever experienced by this country, would not be saying too much of it; for, no point in which the Union can be affected is left untouched, and in every one of them is she presented in the most flattering aspect—if that can be called flattering which is demonstrably true. The unequivocal demonstrations of a general disposition to peace is consoling to humanity; and though the chastisement which Spain richly merits for her unworthy return to our patience and forbearance under her equivocations, shufflings and tricks, already points out the likelihood of our being soon compelled to have recourse to force if she does not alter her conduct, yet we cannot regard such an event as likely to give us any great uneasiness if it should occur. That story would soon be told.

The view which the Message takes of the proceedings at Amelia Island is certainly at once judicious and just, and the purpose it avows in case of the South American colonies establishing their independence—neither to seek nor accept from them any advantage, in commerce or otherwise, which will not be equally open to all the other nations, is beyond the usual aspiring of thorough faced politicians, and beyond the reach of cabinets in general, magnanimous and exalted—and cannot fail, we should think, to give us a station of a new kind among the nations of the earth.

The statement respecting our finances affords another rich source of consolation. The surplus produce of our revenues will enable us to carry the improvement of our common country to as great an extent as we can wisely wish for, to invite literature and the arts in all their forms and orders to come in with their aid, and to advance the nation in all that is ornamental and graceful in life, with a no less rapid pace than her skies, her soil, her independent freedom, and the tough sinews, brawny muscles and dauntless courage of her sons, have pushed her for the last half century beyond the march of every other country.

While every man with an American heart in his bosom, must exult at the glorious picture of his country, portrayed in this state-paper, we doubt whether, as a piece of literary composition, it will be so uniformly admired. It wants that independence of style, respecting which, Mr. John Randolph once held forth with such felicitous acerbity. I doubt whether the palates of the many are not too highly stimulated by the pepper of the novel shop to relish such a piece of simple wholesomeness as this Message.—From the beginning to the end there is not one far-fetched thought, one ambiguous expression, one elaborated quaint inversion, one fine spun effort at the sentimental—our patch of finical finery or neat nothingness: But good sound sense, expressed in vigorous, intelligible language—or, as a great critic has said, speaking of good writing, "PROPER WORDS IN THEIR PROPER PLACES."

Thursday, Dec. 4.

Although our old party feuds have passed away, and been for some time, as Richard says, "in the deep bosom of the ocean buried"—although we have no foreign war to amuse us, in the absence of domestic contention—and although, besides, the President's Message is wholly conversant of harmony, felicity, and the enjoyments of "this piping time of peace"—I cannot help thinking that we shall have a season of a more bustling and interesting kind, than people in general imagine. There are several topics already propounded for consideration that will singly occupy many days, and excite much animated discussion. For one, you may be assured that Spain, her conduct and her relations, will produce much difference of opinion, much argument, and not improbably, in the clashing of contradictory views and purposes, no little warmth. If I am not wrong in my conjectures, they will be agitated in a variety of shapes. First, on grounds of our old disagreements, and that long unliquidated account of wrongs and insults for which we have yet to pay: Secondly, on the score of the existing disputes between her and her oppressed colonists: then on the American transactions—besides the numerous questions that will incidentally grow out of those discussions. On the whole there will be, I see, some game—and am not displeased at being able to form you that the first ball was struck yesterday, by Mr. Clay, and on a very tender and important point in Spanish affairs. The early stage of the session in which he has commenced his operations, and the earnestness, zeal and animation with which he proceeded in the and above all, the bosom tendency of discourse, give countenance to the suspicions that he is to be pretty busy this session—and that his objects are not altogether so covetous as they were wont to be. The subject matter of his yesterday's display, was the arrest and imprisonment of the British officers who were short sojourners in Philadelphia, on the way to South America. To a resolution in the committee, on the state of the Union, Mr. Clay moved this amendment:

"And that the said committee be instructed to enquire whether any, and any, what provisions of law are necessary to ensure to the American colonies Spain, a just observance of the duties incident to the neutral relations in which the United States stand in the existing war between them and Spain."

In support of this he delivered a speech of no great length, but of much animation and eloquence, recommended by earnestness of manner, which never failed to give an imposing air of sincerity to orator, and by strong and unquestioned matters of fact. He stated his wish for that early introduction of the motion to arise from the proceedings which taken place in several of our courts, chiefly that at Philadelphia, the recital of the circumstances of which made the basis of his address. They were these: A number (I think nine or ten) of British officers having formed a resolution to the standard of the Patriotic army in America, sailed from Europe, and their way to their object of destination stopped at Philadelphia, purposing to take their passage thence to some port of the possession of the revolted colonies. They were their accustomed British forms—made no concealment of their signs, but, on the contrary, avowed their purpose was to join the Patriotic army. By the representations of the Spanish authorities in this country, however, government got intelligence of the thing respecting them, and at the instigation of the Spanish minister they were arrested, and being unable, from their strangers in the country, to obtain were committed to prison. This, Mr. said, was the state of the case, according to the information he had received, which he took from the public papers. The information was correct, then he proceeded upon it that it became the duty of the House to interfere and to take a remedy to it; and that it was a which deserved their care, was abundantly testified by the sensations which allowed on all hands the affair excited all ranks, parties and conditions of people in Philadelphia, and the deep indignation manifested in favor of those persons well as the indignation at the oppression of them by imprisonment.

Mr. Clay went on and said that he expected the judges who presided on occasion, forbade his remarking the treatment of those persons was warranted by law, but he would say, without hesitation or scruple, that if the decision of the judges was according to the House was bound in conscience in duty to alter that law. The proceedings of those strangers could not be construed by any straining into a violation of our neutrality. And to their greatest alone it belonged to restrain and take care of the conduct of their subjects.

He then adverted to other cases, in which, under pretence of preserving our neutrality inviolate, our government, at the instigation of the Spanish authorities, caused persons sailing under the colonial flag to be arraigned and tried for piracy, and even when they were fairly acquitted, arraigned them again. When it was considered that our ports were open to vessels sailing under that flag as freely as to any other, all these acts of hindrance and oppression to individuals under no worse circumstances, must be considered as treachery; and if there was any thing in our laws to authorize it, that part of our laws ought to be altered. In that House, at least, he was sure there would always be found a guardian interest to protect those colonists.

Mr. Clay then dwelt with great force upon the many acts inconsistent with a sincere neutrality, which had, from time to time, been committed at the instance of the Spanish authorities, from the proclamation issued at the desire of Toledo, up to the cases now under contemplation; all of them on one side of the question—all bearing entirely on the colonists—for, unfortunately for their cause in this country, they have no means of maintaining here a competition for their rights with their adversaries—they have not, as their oppressors have, an ambassador at our seat of government to watch over their interests, to spur on our government, as was once happily expressed in an excellent publication, and to be rewarded for it at home with noble honor; no consul to stimulate our officers. No, exclaimed Mr. Clay, their case is now exactly what our own was in 1758 and 1759, when Franklin was strolling about Europe, seeking for allies and wooing the smiles of inconvertible legitimacy. Yet, no—there is worse than ours; for we fortunately found one magnanimous ally. This disparity, Mr. Clay repeated, called on the House for its interposition, to correct the procedure, and to convince the world that by the Representatives of the American people at least a strict neutrality would be endeavored to be enforced.

Sergeant, of Philadelphia, felt it incumbent on him to say that Mr. Clay's statement was substantially true. Those persons alluded to had no armaments, bought no arms, enlisted no soldiers, and believed themselves with perfect decorum and propriety—but having taken their passage for South America, on board a ship that was laden with ammunition, got so entangled with the law, that upon a fair construction of that law, the judge felt it impossible to act otherwise than he had done.

No doubt the committee will report a bill to alter the law, and on that bill the whole affair will be more minutely canvassed.

EXTRAORDINARY DISPATCH.
The Message of the President of the United States was delivered to both Houses of Congress yesterday precisely at 12 o'clock; Mr. Martin Potter (our express) procured a copy thereof sixteen minutes afterwards; put the same into our hands thirty seven minutes past TWO; and was issued from this office in an EXTRA and distributed to our patrons a few minutes after seven o'clock the same evening!

The celerity of Mr. P.'s movements, we believe, in this instance, are without a parallel! A distance of 40 miles in two hours and twenty-one minutes! He merits, and will please thus publicly accept our thanks for his attention and despatch.

The following letter, recently received from the Emperor of Russia, has been communicated for publication in the New-York Commercial Advertiser—
To Messrs. Mott, Griscom & Wood, New York.

GENTLEMEN—Receive my thanks for the volume of Essays on Peace, and for the expressions of Christian regard contained in your letter accompanying it.—The efforts which you, and other individuals and societies in North America, are now making to promote love & peace among men, are worthy of the imitation of every well wisher to the peace & happiness of the world; and in these labors of charity I wish you every possible success.

Being well acquainted with the diversified miseries and wretchedness which war spreads among mankind, I shall account it a great happiness to be instrumental in any degree in preserving that peace uninterrupted, with which it has pleased the Divine Being to bless the nations of Europe. ALEXANDER.

John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son, BOOKSELLERS, KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA.

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints; and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small saw-worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes convulsion of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and foetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended.

HAIN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favor of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions. To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative, is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in the stomach and bowels

Lowness of spirits Indigestion
Loss of appetite Melancholy
Impurity of blood Gout in the stomach Hysterical affection Pains in the limbs
and debility Relaxations, &c.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever; and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing their root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-worms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
